

Quality Lab Technician

Taconic, a highly successful global manufacturing company is seeking a self-motivated, responsible individual to work as a Quality Lab Technician in our Quality Department.

A Quality Lab Technician is responsible for collection, testing, data management and reporting of test data for all production samples, as well as general test equipment maintenance.

HS diploma or equivalent experience. Strong verbal communication and active listening skills.

Must have good attention to detail with ability to understand and interpret product specifications, work instructions and drawings. Must be able to work well with others and prioritize based on changing work conditions. Ability to interpret instructions whether written, spoken, or in a diagram. Possess problem-solving skills. Computer skills especially in the use of Microsoft Office/Word/Excel Ability to manage files and records effectively. Knowledge to operate and understand dimensional, electrical and mechanical test equipment such as micrometer, tensile tester, dielectric tester, weight scales, etc. Ability to work with chemicals is required. A fundamental understanding of Taconic's product line is preferred. Position is available on 1st shift.

We offer an excellent benefit package including medical, dental and vision insurance, retirement plan and bonus programs.

For immediate consideration please email resume to hr@4taconic.com or mail to:

Taconic
Attn: Human Resources
136 Coon Brook Road
Petersburgh, NY 12138
800-833-1805 ext 236
www.4taconic.com

EOE/AAP